

Aviation

Our Aviation, Transportation, and Tourism Practice Group offers extensive expertise in advising and representing both domestic and international airlines across a broad range of legal and commercial matters.

Our work spans the establishment of new airlines, negotiation and drafting of purchase agreements, ACMI and dry lease contracts, traffic rights and slot allocations, as well as supplier agreements covering ground handling, ramp operations, and catering. We also handle GSA agreements, interline and codeshare arrangements, IATA BSP registration processes, ADM/ACM management, customer service issues, and recovery of unpaid service fees.

In addition, we provide counsel on environmental regulatory compliance and sustainability matters affecting the aviation and transportation sectors. We also provide strategic counsel to leading players in the travel and tourism sector, including industry associations and organizations representing travel professionals, particularly in connection with largescale investment projects. In addition, our practice encompasses related fields such as labor law, Commercial Litigation, Class Action, intellectual property and licensing of commercial agreements, ensuring a fully integrated legal solution. Our team is an active member of leading global legal networks, including the International Forum of Travel and Tourism Advocates (IFTTA), the European Air Law Association (EALA), and the Worldwide Airports Lawyers Association (WALA).
